Area Sewer Disposal Problems Discussed at Meeting Held Here

State Commission Conducts Hearing At City Hall

A group of State Senators and Representatives, members of the State Sewer Investigation Commission, conducted a hearing in Harrisburg Friday at the city hall and heard representatives from various southern Illinois communities tell of their sewer disposal problems.

Rep. W. O. Verhines of Vienna, a member of the commission, stated at the beginning of the hearing that the purpose of the session was to give community officials the opportunity to explain their particular problems and explain how their problems might be aided through legislation. "This commission has no power to appropriate or allocate funds, but can make recommendations to the State Legislature," Rep. Verhines declared.

Members of the ten-man commission present were Senator George Drach of Springfield, Senator Dan Dougherty of Chicago, Senator Robert Graham of Chicago, Rep. Allen Lucas of Springfield, Rep. Dean Hammack of Pinckneyville, Rep. Verhines and Rep. G. W. Horsley of Springfield, chairman. Other members, who were unable to attend, are Senator Lott O'Neill of Downers Grove, Senator R. W. Lyons of Coles county and Rep. Norman Shade, Pekin. Rep. Paul Powell of Vienna attended the hearing as an honorary member.

Witnesses testified to many problems, but generally the problems were either financial or complaints that creeks and ditches that carried away the sewage from treatment plants were not sufficiently cleared of growth to allow quick drainage. Freeman O'Keefe and Earl Up-ton, mayors of Carrier Mills and Vienna respectively, testified their towns were unable to construct sewerage systems due to the high cost of construction. Carrier Mills System In each case the community's assessed valuation isn't large enough to support the necessary bond issue. Mayor O'Keefe gave the commission members a surprise when he

WE GROW 'EM LATER DEPT.: Those ol' beanstalks finally had to give up. But they sure showed their productivity before the sub-freezing blasts got them Thursday night.

They were the Kentucky Wonder beans on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Riegel near Union Chapel in Brushy township.

On Thursday, when it looked like it was going to get real cold that night, Mr. and Mrs. Riegel hurried themselves to the bean patch and picked themselves a bushel and a half of beans. It was the third crop picked by the Riegels this season from the same beanstalks, and when the freeze came the vines were full of blooms, which was a strong indication they weren't going to give up on their own.

The beans were put in the deep freeze.

Second crop was picked three weeks ago. There was a bushel that time.

SUSAN JO HAMBY, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hamby of this city, is happy these days because of the response she received from Washington, D. C. Susan some time back wrote President Eisenhower a letter telling him that she and her mother were wearing like pins and that she hoped he won for president.

A few days later she received from Washington a picture of Eisenhower and a facsimile of his signature.

For Whom The Bell Tolls--

It is difficult to attempt to evaluate the effects of a death of any person; probably it is folly to do so.

But the passing this week of two of Harrisburg's elder civic leaders and businessmen — Dennis B. McGehee and Herman T. Towle, cannot go unnoticed.

The death of an infant, known but to the family, elicits grief. Not the depth, but the extent of the grief over other deceased is measured by their length of life, their breadth of acquaintanceship and their activity during life.

John Donne centuries ago, in old English style, attempted to picture the effects when he wrote:

"No man is an island, intire of it selfe; every man is a peece of the Continent, a part of the maine; if a Clod bee washed away by the Sea, Europe is the lesse, as well as if a Promontorie were, as well as if a Mannor of thy friends or of thine owne were; any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in Mankinde; and therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls; It tolls for thee."

With the death this week of men who will be remembered as two of Harrisburg's greater citizens, the bell tolled for Harrisburg this week, and it "is the lesse."

Military Secrecy Shrouds Fiery Crash of Navy Multi-Jet Bomber

WILMINGTON, Del. (UP) — A shroud of military secrecy hung over the wreckage of the Navy's $5.6 million Martin Seamaster today as investigators sought clues to the cause of the fiery crash of the multi-jet bomber.

The huge four-engine craft crashed into a farmer's potato field near St. Georges, 10 miles south of here Friday afternoon. The four man crew bailed out.

Air Police from New Castle Air Force Base blocked off the accident scene, which covered a quarter-mile. The wreckage was reported "unrecognizable" and in pieces no larger than three to five feet square.

CAA and Navy inspectors and engineers from the Glenn L. Martin Co., Baltimore, builders of the plane, planned to recover all the pieces of the jet for study.

The crew parachuted to safety and were carried by a strong wind into marshlands bordering the Delaware River. A chase plane, observing the routine test flight of the Seamaster, directed volunteer firemen to the scene.

A flight test engineer, William Compton, Lutherville, Md., suffered undetermined injuries and was evacuated by helicopter to Baltimore.

The three other crew members, pilot, R. S. Turner, Baltimore; copilot, W. E. Cunningham, Towson, Md., and flight test engineer, Thomas Kenney, Towson, escaped injury. An eyewitness said he saw a "ball of fire" in the sky just before the craft plunged to earth. A state policeman said the Seamaster exploded in midair shortly after the crew parachuted. The plane was the Navy's second and only remaining multi-jet, water based bomber.

Legion, VFW to Sponsor Veterans Day Program

Veterans Day will be observed in Harrisburg Monday, Nov. 12, with a program sponsored by the George Hart Post 167 of the American Legion and Beasley-Murray Post 3642, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Auto Hits Hay Wagon Load of Girl Scout Brownies

ISLIP, N. Y. (UP) — Forty-five persons were shaken up or injured Friday night when a car struck a horse-drawn hay wagon carrying a troop of Girl Scout Brownies and their chaperones on a hay ride.

Six persons were hospitalized, including three of the Brownies. The others were treated and released.

The accident occurred near an intersection in this Long Island town. Most of those taken to hospitals were girls between the ages of seven and nine who were shaken up, cut or bruised.

Board Completes Canvass, Await Order by Court

Refuse to Sign Because of Uncounted Ballots

The Saline county canvassing board today had completed its canvass but will not sign the canvass as a true and correct canvass of all precincts until after it is told by court order what to do.

The board, consisting of County Clerk Don B. Garrison, K. C. Capel and Everett Shaw, signed a statement to be presented to the state's attorney declaring that they have a true and correct canvass of every precinct except Carrier Mills, where "we find from the evidence of the judges and clerks of the said precinct that over 100 ballots cast were not counted."

"Being informed," the statement continued, "that we could open the ballots and count them or have the judges and clerks of the precinct count them, and also being informed that we could not do so, we have refused and persist in refusing to sign the canvass as true and correct until ordered by a court to do so, and an order be given by the court either to recount the ballots cast in Carrier Mills 1 or to accept the returns shown by the tally sheets and poll books."

Ballots Under Lock and Key

Garrison, who said he would present the statement to the state's attorney this morning for action, also declared he had all ballots, tally sheets and poll book for Carrier Mills precinct 1 under lock and key.

Yesterday Circuit Clerk Quentin Bowers, Republican defeated re-election by James R. Burroughs, Democrat, according to unofficial figures, issued a statement to the canvassing board declaring that more than 100 ballots were overlooked in Carrier Mills 1. Five of the six judges and clerks were on hand to declare they had not been counted due to oversight.

The canvass was begun and the canvassing board counted Carrier Mills 1 according to the figures on the tally sheets and without opening the ballots.

The canvass as made showed that Burroughs had a total of 7,748 in the county compared with 7,554 for Bowers, a difference of 194. The Carrier Mills 1 canvass without the ballots in question gave Bowers 308 to 257 for Burroughs.

The complete canvass will be published Tuesday.

South Korea Army Chief Reports Communist Trucks Near Truce Front

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—Republic of Korea Army Chief of Staff Gen. Lee Heng Kun said today that North Korean and Chinese Communist trucks believed carrying weapons and ammunition have been rolling towards the truce front in increasing numbers.

ROK Defense Minister Kim Yong called an emergency meeting of the state council to discuss the reports from the Communist north. While ROK officials were taking precautionary measures following Soviet troops movements in Europe and the Middle East, they said there was no definite indication that the Communists were going to attack.

Lt. Gen. Paik In Yup, commander of the Sixth ROK Corps, denied a report from a news agency (not United Press) that a clash had broken out between North and South Korean troops on the central front. American and other South Korean officers here also said they knew nothing about the reported clash and no Seoul newspapers printed the report.

The Communist high command in Korea, meanwhile, accused the United States forces of sending two ROK fighter planes over North Korea last Wednesday in a "hostile" and "serious" provocation.

The North Koreans made the charge at a meeting of the armistice commission in Panmunjom.

North Korean Delegate Maj. Gen. Chung Kook Rok said the two F51 propeller-driven Mustangs invaded the airspace north of the truce line and one of them was shot down in an aerial fight.

Seoul authorities had announced earlier that the two Mustangs were flying south of the truce line when they were jumped by Red Mig jets.

OIL REPORT: One Producer, Two Dry Holes

Taken from the Robertson Tri-State Oil Report

T. M. Pruett's Charles A. Benson No. 4, SW SW NW, 21-7s-6e (Long Branch) made a producer in the Aux Vases lime but the initial production was not available.

There were two dry holes reported: Texas company's Bertram Braden No. 1, SEC NW SE, 8-8s-5e (Galatia) and the Harper and McConnell E. Martin et al No. 1, NW SW SE, 23-9s-7e (Cottage). The Inglis Oil company's Bert Keelin No. 1, NW NE NE, 11-8s-5e (Galatia) was cleaning out to test the Rosiclar, and Massac Petroleum Enterprises' P. Galleher No. 2, NW NE SW, 28-8s-5e (Brushy), was on pump testing the Cypress after fracture.

Eldorado Man New Deputy Sheriff

Sheriff William T. Barrett today announced the appointment of Charles Donaldson of Eldorado as a deputy sheriff succeeding James Lyon, who resigned to accept employment at the new Saxton coal mine south of Harrisburg.

Lyon, also from Eldorado, has been a member of the force since Barrett became sheriff in December, 1954.

The new deputy was employed at Serval in Evansville for four years and operated a service station before accepting the deputy sheriff post.

Mrs. Eudora Myers Of Equality Dies

The body is at the A. K. Moore funeral home in Equality and funeral plans are incomplete.

Dunbar Asks Dismissal of Repayment Suit

SPRINGFIELD — Trucker James W. Dunbar today asked dismissal of a suit in which the state demands repayment of $114,138 in alleged "excessive charges" made by Dunbar for hauling federal surplus foods.

Dunbar's attorney, Arthur M. Fitzgerald, Friday filed a motion in Circuit Court here charging that the state is "without right and authority" to obtain reimbursement for the alleged overcharges. The motion said the state in effect was charging Dunbar with a breach of duty "within the administrative discretion of the constitutional officer who executed" the contract. The motion said the state had no legal grounds on which to do this.

The constitutional officer who executed the contract was Supt. of Public Instruction Vernon L. Nickell.

Dunbar distributed the federal surplus foods to schools and state institutions from June, 1952, to March, 1955, under a contract awarded to him by Nickell without bids being taken.

Local Masons Attend 100th Anniversary Of Grayville Lodge

The hundredth anniversary of Sheba Lodge No. 200, A. F. & A. M. was observed at Grayville Friday night, and in attendance from Harrisburg were R. C. Davenport, Grand Secretary, R. C. Davenport Jr., Wm. Biggers and John Small. Milton T. Sonntag, Grand Master of Illinois, was the principal speaker, at the lodge session, following a banquet at American Legion hall.

No Definite Acceptance From Egypt

Britain, France Hopeful for Big Three Meeting

LONDON — The advance guard of the United Nations police force headed today toward the Suez Canal zone although Egypt still has not said definitely she will accept foreign troops on her soil.

An official of the NATO headquarters in Naples said the first contingent—40 troops each from Norway and Denmark—would arrive during the day. More are on the way from other countries which have volunteered men.

The units will stay in the U. S. Navy barracks in Naples and leave for Egypt possibly today or Sunday.

The Danish contingent left Karup Airfield in Jutland aboard two U. S. Air Force transports at 5 a. m. CST. Two infantry companies, totaling 315 men, are to follow. Norway's present contribution totals 190 men but may be increased.

Transportation to Egypt will be provided by the Swissair Co. Officials said a fleet of DC6Bs are prepared to ferry the police force to Egypt.

Big Three May Meet

Reports circulated here, meanwhile, that a Big Three Western meeting in Washington may be imminent. Government circles expressed hope that President Eisenhower would agree to a meeting with Prime Minister Anthony Eden of Britain and French Premier Guy Mollet to try to heal the breach in the Western alliance caused by the Anglo-French operation against Egypt.

Eden Friday night announced he was willing "to go anywhere and meet anybody to help in a situation of such danger in Europe and the Middle East. He was referring to the Swiss plan for a five-power summit meeting of the Western Big Three, Russia and India. But he also is believed to want a meeting with Mr. Eisenhower.

Mollet already has announced that he planned to fly to Washington.

Hopes Still High

Presidential Press Secretary James Hagerly's statement that that there are no plans at this moment for a Big Three meeting put only a slight damper on the hopes there.

There was a definite sense of urgency here. There have been reports of mass movement of Soviet planes to the Arab nations in the Middle East. There was concern in British military circles that the ceasefire in the Suez had put Anglo-French forces in a tenuous position.

Egypt still has not given a definite reply to the U. N. request for stationing the international police force on its soil. It said it was waiting "requested details" from U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold before giving its final answer.

On Temporary Basis

Brig. Abdel Kedharhatom, director of the Egyptian government information office, said early today that the force will be stationed along the truce line set up under the 1949-armistice agreements on a "temporary basis." He said they would be withdrawn as soon as the emergency ends.

Britain and France already have announced they will pull their forces out when an effective U. N. police force moved in. Israel has promised to pull its troops out of the Sinai Peninsula in conformity with the U. N. resolutions on the Middle East.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Nixon Pledges Support To Ike In Plan To Rebuild GOP In His Own Image; Nixon's Senate Record Shows Him Against Things Favored By Eisenhower; Ike May Have Four Cabinet Vacancies To Fill.

WASHINGTON. — The day before elections President Eisenhower had a friendly talk with his understudy Vice President Nixon, in which he sketched some of his hopes and ambitions for the future. White House friends say the talk was most significant.

The President knew then that, despite some of the earlier fears of his associates, he was certain to be re-elected. So he outlined to Nixon his plans to rebuild the Republican party in his own image. Part of what he told Nixon he later told the television audience when he made his brief election speech and outlined his plans for modern Republicanism.

Nixon, of course, has belonged to the opposite wing of the GOP. When in the Senate he voted against practically all the Roosevelt-Truman measures which Eisenhower has largely embraced. Nixon's voting record shows that he opposed reciprocal trade, whereas Eisenhower has staunchly supported it. Nixon opposed foreign aid, whereas Eisenhower has pushed it personally. Nixon also voted to reduce school lunches, crop insurance, social security and the scope of minimum wages. Ike's program has been just the opposite.

One reason why the conservative wing of the GOP demanded Nixon on the ticket was because of his vigorous record of opposing so-called New Deal measures.

In this pre-election talk with Eisenhower, however, White House friends say that Nixon pledged his support to Ike's dreams for a modern Republican party. White House advisers also say that the "new Nixon" who followed the "high road" during the campaign, will continue to be the "new Nixon."

IKE TO LOSE 4 CABINET CHIEFS

It looks as if President Eisenhower would have four vacancies to fill in his new cabinet. He will fill some of them with great regret.

The four who want to retire to private life are John Foster Dulles, secretary of state; George Humphrey, secretary of the treasury; Charles E. Wilson, secretary of defense; and Marion Folsom, secretary of health, education, and welfare.

Of these, the man Eisenhower will miss most is Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey. On economic matters he has been the dominant voice in the cabinet. His views, far more than those of Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, have prevailed. Eisenhower has also leaned on Humphrey regarding most major policy, including defense. One of his frequent statements, when asked about an important decision, is:

"Let's see what George thinks of that."

However Humphrey, who originally planned to stay only two years, has now stayed four. He feels the time has come to return to private business, and although he won't retire immediately, he hopes to do so sometime in 1957.

Secretary Folsom, who has greatly improved Mrs. Hobbs' administration of health, education, and welfare is in much the same boat. He wants to go back to private life, and the President will have a hard time changing his mind.

Charlie Wilson, whose tongue has wagged the administration onto many hot spots, also wants to get out. Ike has developed a genuine affection for the warm-hearted but sometimes bumbling secretary of defense. He will be missed personally, but not professionally.

WEINBERG HELPS PICK 'EM

Secretary Dulles is in a category of his own. He passed up the offer of an appointment to the Supreme Court this fall, preferring his work in the State Department. However, regardless of his illness, which is serious, White House advisers have had misgivings about his continuation as secretary of state. They feel that the breach between our old allies, France and Britain, over Suez reached a point where a new man should pilot the foreign policy of the United States.

Possible successors to Dulles include Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to the United Nations who rates high with Ike; ex-Gov. Tom Dewey, one of Ike's closest political advisers; and John J. McCloy, former assistant secretary of war, high commissioner to Germany, and now head of the Chase Bank.

Note — Sidney Weinberg, the presidential adviser who has helped pick more cabinet members for Ike and put more military men in key business jobs, has already been working on cabinet replacements. It was Weinberg who picked Humphrey for the Treasury and Wilson for the Defense Department. He operates through his close friend, Gen. Lucius Clay, whom he made head of Continental Can. Clay formed a fast friendship with the President when they served in the Army together.

HERBERT HOOVER IMPROVES

U. S. diplomats credit Herbert Hoover, Jr., with doing a better job than expected as acting secretary of state now that John Foster Dulles is ill.

Young Hoover is not renowned for his knowledge of foreign affairs. He is frank, charming, naive. He is even frank enough to admit that he doesn't know too much about foreign affairs, and once, when riots were blazing on the Greek-British island of Cyprus, he made the naive confession that he would "have to read up on Cyprus."

The fact that Hoover is unsure of himself, however, has steadied American foreign policy and done something for it that John Foster Dulles seldom did. It has revived regular staff conferences.

President Calls for Observance of National Retarded Children's Week

"I hope the observance of National Retarded Children's Week will result in increased understanding and strengthened efforts to help the mentally retarded live rewarding lives for their own sakes and for the nation."

With these words President Dwight D. Eisenhower called for renewed efforts of all members and units of the National Association for Retarded Children in a letter to the N.A.R.C. president, made public today through each unit of the association throughout the country. National Retarded Children's Week is scheduled to begin Nov. 11.

In Saline county, the president of the Saline County Association for Mentally Retarded Children, Miss Sara Nelson, said that copies of President Eisenhower's letter had been received. In it, the President congratulated members of the National Association for Retarded Children throughout the country for their work in increasing the opportunities for the mentally retarded.

"Because of the inspired work done by Americans such as your members, the 120,000 mentally retarded children born in the United States each year have a better chance to develop their abilities and lead useful lives," the President said.

He noted the contribution to research in the prevention and treatment of mental retardation made by members of the National Association for Retarded Children.

In Saline county, the drive for funds under the chairmanship of Mrs. Aaron Dudley, will begin on Nov. 11. A small percentage of funds raised goes to the national organization to support research and other vital national services. The remainder will be used locally to sponsor a day summer camp for retarded children in this area.

Social and Personal Items

Dorrisville Baptist Ladies' Bible Class Holds Social

The Ladies' Bible class of the Dorrisville Baptist church met Thursday evening with Mrs. Clarence Dixon for the regular social.

The meeting opened with singing "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Mrs. Roy Hudnell gave the devotion, using the 113th Psalm for the scripture lesson.

Mrs. Ralph Stout, teacher of the class, led in prayer.

During the business meeting the following officers were elected for the new year: Ethel Hudnell, president; Mae Holland, vice president; Fae Dill, reporter; Mary Wilkinson, secretary and treasurer; Cora Dixon and Thelma Dunning, flower committee; Rose McIlrath, corresponding secretary.

Fae Dill dismissed the meeting with prayer after which Thelma Dunning furnished the entertainment. A prize was awarded to Irene Stout.

Mrs. Rosa Stricklin received the door prize.

The hostess and her assistants served pumpkin pie and whipped cream and coffee to those mentioned and to the following: Mrs. Harry Bush, Mrs. Boyd Langford, Mrs. Dan Gholson, Mrs. Byrd Schek, Mrs. Lon Vaughn and one visitor, Mrs. Booker Shell.

Mrs. Corby Wickham Hostess to First Baptist Jane McRay Circle

The Jane McRay circle of the First Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Corby Wickham on Thursday, Nov. 8, with 12 members present.

Mrs. Ed Creek, chairman, opened the meeting with the song "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" with Mrs. Everett Hood at the piano. Prayer was by Mrs. Vera Benson.

Mrs. Wickham gave the devotion on the subject "Mission Enterprise." The topic "Prayer" was given by Mrs. Daisy Rude, and scriptures on prayer were read by Mrs. Hal Wilson, Mrs. B. E. Moore, Mrs. Everett Hood and Mrs. Lavenia Waite.

Mrs. Archie Abney talked on the subject "Do Not Forget the Men Overseas—Remember Them in Prayer."

The circle decided not to exchange Christmas gifts at the December meeting and to fill a basket for a family in need.

Mrs. R. F. Land will be hostess at the December meeting.

Woman's Club To Have Program On American Home

Mrs. Carl Rude will be chairman of the program on American Home to be presented Monday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Harrisburg Woman's club.

The meditation will be given by Mrs. L. M. Hancock and the music will consist of a piano solo by George Dennis. Mrs. George Robertson will be in charge of a display of silver articles.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Carl Corrie, Mrs. Merle Guard and Mrs. W. W. Damron.

Mrs. Phyllis Hicks Hostess To Faithful Followers Class

The Faithful Followers Sunday school class of the Big Ridge Baptist church met Nov. 6 at the home of Mrs. Phyllis Hicks.

Roll call was answered by telling the number of Bible chapters read. Prizes were given to those who had read the most or least verses.

Plans for a Christmas play by the class were made.

Mrs. Shirley Wintzler brought the devotion talking on the Three C's of Religion.

Mrs. Genevieve Alvey led in recreation which was followed by refreshments served by the hostess. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Shirley Rister.

The following were present: Barbara Miller, Wilma Rister, Margaret Wise, Theda Miller, Eva Mugge, Shirley Rister, Phyllis Hicks, Shirley Wintzler, Genevieve Alvey and Carolyn Billman.

Medical Society Auxiliary Entertains Doctors' Wives

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Saline County Medical society was hostess to the wives of the members of the 82nd annual meeting of the Southern Illinois Medical Association Nov. 8 at the Country club.

The Auxiliary was happy to have as guests Mrs. Robert Dunlevy, Pekin, Ill., president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Illinois State Medical society; Mrs. Nicholas Chester, president-elect from River Forest, and Mrs. Walter Alvarez of Chicago.

The ladies attended lunch with their husbands at the Country club and were entertained from 2 to 4 p. m. at the club room of the public library by the local auxiliary. Mrs. George Barnes gave an interesting talk and demonstration on "Gift Wrapping."

Mrs. Larry Barnhill presented two vocal selections accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Clayton Slack. Delicious punch was served.

In the evening the ladies joined their husbands for dinner at the Country club.

Mrs. J. V. Capel Hostess To P. E. O.

Chapter Z, P. E. O., held its regular meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. J. V. Capel.

It was announced that the next meeting would be held with Mrs. Charles E. Combe.

The initiation ceremony was observed. Mrs. Carl Hauptmann read a paper by Ida Stillwell entitled "What Is P. E. O.?" Mrs. John Slightom entertained by singing two songs, "We Kiss In a Shadow" and "Almost Like Being In Love."

During the social hour refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Lena Shoemaker of 506 North Granger, who serves as nurse to Dr. B. E. Montgomery, suffered a heart attack last evening. She was taken to the Harrisburg hospital where she will remain for possibly two weeks. She was reported as doing fairly well this morning.

Michael Hillegas Chapter To Meet Monday Evening

The Michael Hillegas chapter of the D. A. R. will meet Monday evening at the home Mrs. Sam Cape.

Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. Hal Burnett, Mrs. Tom Orment and Mrs. J. A. Musgrave.

The program subject, "Signers of the Declaration of Independence," will be presented by a guest speaker.

Members are reminded to bring Christmas gifts and clothing for the approved schools.

Mrs. Wanda R. Raley is now at her home recuperating from major surgery. Friends may write her at 3128 Ronald Drive, St. Ann, Mo.

DISTINCTIVELY STYLED from its jet-flow bumpers and forward-thrust fender hoods, its sculptured steel body with projectile treatment on the rear fender, the Mercury for 1957 represents one of the most extensive model changes in history. Its "dream car" design is accentuated by the thin, crisp roof line. Despite its low silhouette, it has two inches more headroom. Its bigger bodies are five inches longer and three inches wider. The 1957 Mercury offers a unique new floating ride with a multitude of new chassis suspension features. A choice of two mighty V-8 engines, 255 or 290 hp, provide extra power, performance and durability. Shown is a Mercury Montclair Phaeton sedan. The new Mercury will be on display for a special showing this afternoon and evening and Sunday from 1 to 6 p. m. at Wiley Motor Company, local dealer.

Special Showing Today, Sunday of New 1957 Mercurys by Wiley Motor Company

Special showing of the 1957 Mercury will be held this afternoon and this evening and Sunday from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. at Wiley's Motor Company, local Mercury dealer.

The 1957 Mercurys are distinguished by an unusually low silhouette, a completely new and larger body, choice of 255 horsepower Safety-Surge V-8 or 290 horsepower Turnpike Cruiser engine and a unique new floating ride which pioneers air-cushion rear suspension on many models.

The new Mercurys are designed to provide driving ease, comfort, safety and performance for motorists on turnpikes and freeways as well as on rutty, rural roads or city streets. F. C. Reith, Ford Motor Company vice president and Mercury general manager, states.

Mercury's long, flowing lines are highlighted by graceful, sculptured side projectiles topping low rear fenders and terminating in massive V-angle tail-lights which make Mercury unmistakable on any road.

The new Mercury's "dream car" styling is based on the XM-Turnpike Cruiser — an experimental model which was introduced last January and won approval on a coast-to-coast tour.

The 1957 Mercury is five inches longer than the previous model, three inches wider and four inches lower. Headroom has been increased two inches and there also is more hip room and leg room. Wheelbase is up three inches from 119 to 122 inches and the front tread is one and a half inches wider.

Outstanding features are: New keyboard control with Merc-O-Matic transmission which is mounted on the instrument panel; air cushion rear suspension; new "floating ride," to provide jolt-free comfort; new station wagons with passenger car riding comfort; and 14-inch wheels.

There are 15 models in three series: station wagon, Monterey and Montclair.

Tests have shown that aspirin does not help to preserve cut flowers.

TV Tower Hit By Plane Keeps 3,000 from Homes

NORTH BERGEN, N. J. (UP) — Ironworkers planned another attempt today to dislodge the eight-ton top section of a television tower which leans precariously over a row of evacuated homes.

Some 3,000 persons evacuated from houses surrounding the 810-foot tower after it was struck by an airplane Thursday were not expected to be able to return to their homes until Monday.

Four persons were killed when the twin-engine plane clipped the tower and plunged in flames into a nearby apartment house.

An attempt to cut the 110-foot pinnacle of the tower free Friday created an even greater danger when the steel top swung like a folding jackknife and lodged against the section below.

Revival to Begin Sunday at Harco

A "truth" revival will begin Sunday at the Harco Baptist church and continue through next week.

There will be a different speaker each evening. Sunday morning and evening Rev. Floyd Lacy, Saline Baptist Association missionary, will preach. Other speakers will be: Monday evening, Rev. Robert Blackman, pastor of Ingham Hill Baptist; Tuesday, Carl Millis, layman of the Dorrisville Baptist; Wednesday, Dr. H. L. Waters, teacher at the Bible Extension Center; Thursday, Rev. Alvie Daily, Wasson Baptist; Friday, Rev. Cecil Abney, McKinley Avenue Baptist Mission; Saturday, Dr. W. A. Ward, Long Branch Baptist.

Services will close Sunday Nov. 18, with the pastor, Rev. John Beggs, bringing the morning and evening messages.

Area Sewer Disposal Problems Discussed

testified that although many residents of the community had sanitary toilets, that only a few had septic tanks and the community didn't have a sewer system.

When asked how the sewerage was disposed of, O'Keefe revealed that holes had been drilled into abandoned mine entries and sewerage was disposed of into the mine workings. A commission member from Chicago remarked "The people in southern Illinois certainly are resourceful."

O'Keefe asked for help in getting a low-interest loan or direct grant to help with the town's financial problem.

Others testifying included Amos Doom, superintendent of the Harrisburg water and sewer department; Harrison Kibler, chief operator of the Harrisburg sewerage disposal plant; Attorney Don Scott, attorney for the West Harrisburg drainage district when its last assessment was made and work accomplished of clearing the drainage ditch.

Other Witnesses
Out-of-town witnesses included Albert Anderson, superintendent of sewerage at Marion, and Raymond McCormick, commissioner of public property in Marion; John Wooten, superintendent of the sewer plant at Carbondale, and F. E. Corbit, Carbondale's water and sewer superintendent. Last witness was John D. Gushe, water and sewer superintendent from Johnston City.

The general opinion of those present was that sufficient finances would solve any problem discussed and that there is necessary legislation now on the statute books to authorize any legal steps the communities might find necessary to their sewerage problems.

The hearings opened about 10:30 Friday morning with an address of welcome by Harrisburg Mayor Claude Gibbons and continued until late afternoon.

The commission has been conducting hearings throughout the state and will present recommendations at the next session of the Illinois legislature.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS TODAY

It happens in offices, in factories, in barracks . . . on ships and trains and airplanes . . . in the quiet of churches, in the thunder of battle; we pause in the turmoil of time to read the Word of Eternity.

And the pages we read bring us close to those at home, or to those away from home. For the Bible brings us to God, in Whom there are no distances, with Whom love encompasses all.

One of the great Christian enterprises of our time is the American Bible Society. Through the support of Christian churches and individuals it seeks to bring these divine pages before the eyes of men, women and children the world over.

Like the churches of our community it calls men to the Truth on which unity and freedom are founded.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Lord's Requirements

Micah 4:1-5, 6:6-8
By Dr. Archie E. Brown
GOLDEN TEXT: "He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? (Micah 6:8)

INTRODUCTION — All of us long for peace on earth. We want lasting peace. The world's leaders have tried every scheme, except the right one, for world peace. International courts, leagues and councils have been established. The United Nations Councils have been hard at work. For what purpose? Seeking a lasting peace upon earth.

Will the earth ever see the day that there will be perfect peace — lasting peace? Yes! The Bible tells us of that day. When will it come? When the Prince of Peace comes and establishes it upon earth.

This is Armistice Day. We are celebrating the end of World War I, which was the war fought to "end all wars." But since that day, November 11, 1918, we have experienced another, more costly war, World War II. There has been no peace.

I THE DAY OF PEACE (4:1-2)
Peace treaties mean little or nothing. They are based upon the words of man. Yes, it is too bad that men and nations cannot trust one another. Treaties are scraps of paper, because of the nature of human beings. Tanks and guns and ammunition and planes and atom bombs cannot bring peace.

Micah here tells us of the day when the nations shall all "go up to God's house" — "up the mountains of the Lord." Why are they going? "To hear the Word of the Lord" and to learn to walk in His ways. Then peace shall come. It will be when men and nations seek the Lord and His will.

II WHAT WILL HAPPEN? (3-5)
When the people go up to God's mountain "in the latter days," He will "judge nations afar off, and they shall beat their swords into plow shares, and their spears into pruning-hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn of war any more."

These words apply, not to this day, but to the "latter days" when the Prince of Peace has come to earth. The day of perfect peace is coming, because Jesus is coming to earth again!

III HOW TO OBTAIN PEACE (6:6-8)

True peace is not found in rituals, nor in the offering of sacrifices. Ceremonies of any nature will not please God like the "walking humbly with God." That's it. There you have it! Nothing in this world can do what please God like your "doing justly, loving mercy and walking humbly with thy God."

Justice, mercy and humility are the attributes of a Christian, because they are characteristics of Christ. The persons who really know him and has these attributes, has peace in his heart to day.

CONCLUSION — You should read the fifth chapter of Micah. Because of limited space it is not dealt with here. It tells of the coming of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ to earth again. Hundreds of years before he ever came the first time, God revealed this prophecy through Micah. One day it shall come to pass, even as all of God's promises are kept. Jesus is coming again. "Even so, come, Lord Jesus." (Revelation 22:20)

Saline Association Mission Board Elects Officers

The Saline Association Mission Board met Tuesday night at the First Baptist church in Harrisburg and elected the following officers: Howard T. Taylor, chairman, William Fuson, associate moderator, Ernest Ammon, clerk, and Olen Clarida, associate clerk. A calendar committee was appointed by the chairman and a finance committee was inaugurated to inform the churches of the financial needs of the mission board. Missionary Floyd Lacy was elected to be chairman of a steering committee for the Oct. 6-20, 1957, simultaneous revival for Saline Association, cooperating with the southern half of Illinois in similar revivals. The northern part of Illinois will hold meetings May 19-26, 1957. The Daily Register 30c a week by carrier boy.

Rising Price for Farmland Shows Part of Trend to Larger Farms

BY WARREN STROTHER
United Press Staff Correspondent
Rising prices for Illinois farmland in the face of falling net farm income averages may look like a prize riddle, but it is all part of a forced trend toward larger farms.
The price pressure on farmland results from farm families seeking more land to reduce per-acre operating costs, according to an analysis by University of Illinois farm economists M. M. Stewart and R. K. Lekberg.
The economists reported the average net income of Illinois farmers dropped from an index number of 315 in 1948 to 160 in 1955 with the 1935-39 average income as base.
During the same period, the average land prices jumped from 215 to 315 on the index scale.

"INSURANCE-WISE"

by BILL GHENT

QUESTION:
If I move from my present home to another town in Illinois, is it necessary to have the insurance on my household goods transferred by having my insurance agent endorse my policy to show the new location?

ANSWER:
Not always. If your insurance is properly written by a progressive minded, bona fide local agent, your protection will automatically follow you anywhere in Illinois. However, it would be best to verify your coverage with your own agent.

By Albert Meyer
How many stalks of corn per hill are best? That is a question each farmer must decide for himself at planting time and one that is shot through with all kinds of uncertainties.

In deciding, two highly important factors are soil fertility and moisture available during the growing season. If a farmer plants too few kernels per hill in soil that has enough available plant nutrients to support more, he is not using the land efficiently and will not obtain the yield per acre that would be possible. On the other hand, if he plants as many kernels as the soil will support but happens to have a drought during the growing season he will be penalized in lower yields.

A preliminary report on a rate of planting study at the Carbondale Agronomy Research Center was given at a recent Corn Field Day which the Center sponsored near Wolf Lake in cooperation with the Shawnee high school vocational agriculture department. The Center is operated jointly by the University of Illinois and Southern Illinois University.

Several observations may be made about the results of the study. An increase in average yield occurred with each additional plant right up the line for two, three, four and five stalks per hill. However, the rate of increase declined as the number of plants per hill increased. The biggest jump, nearly 20 bushels per acre, occurred between the two and the three kernels per hill planting rate. This average increase was cut in half between the three and the four plants per hill rate.

Not all of the four varieties planted reacted the same in the rate of increase. Some held up better than others as the planting rate reached the maximum. One variety actually produced less per acre at the rate of five kernels per hill than at four per hill.

Crops men concerned with the test made the general observation that the best corn planting rate for average Southern Illinois cropland in an average year is three kernels per hill.

If some of the farm buildings will need attention—painting or exterior repairs—before winter, now is the time to get it done. There still are good days for painting but the job will need to be started later in the morning and end earlier in the evening to avoid trouble with moisture from dew on the surface. Be sure that the area to be painted is dry and free of grease, excessive dirt and the scale of peeling paint.

Leaky roofs need patching now. Cold or wet winter weather is a poor time to get on the roof to make repairs that should have been made when the season was more appropriate. Leaky roofs may cause damage to stored forage and grain, machinery and the building itself.

Broken panes in barn or poultry house windows deserve to be replaced before bad weather arrives. Windows are intended to provide natural lighting during daytime, to give protection from adverse weather, and to allow for proper ventilation. A broken window defeats its purpose. Loose boards or door hinges, or a broken door latch may be repaired in a few spare minutes and prevent additional damage or inconvenience. Farm buildings represent a large investment and are a vital part of the farming enterprise. They ought to be protected and maintained in such a manner as to increase their life and usefulness.

Rural Development Program Planned For Southern Illinois

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has allocated $7,750 to the University of Illinois College of Agriculture to begin a rural development project in southern Illinois, according to W. G. Kammlade, associate director of the Illinois Agricultural Extension Service.

The aim of the rural development program is to assist farmers who do not have large incomes and to assist communities with economic and social problems. Pulaski-Alexander counties have been selected as the first location for the work. In these counties there are 770 farms with fewer than 100 acres.

To carry out the program, an assistant farm adviser has been employed to begin about January 1. He will work with farmers in developing enterprises that should increase their income. He will also help to locate employment opportunities so that those with small farms can have some other source of income.

Some work similar to the rural development program is being done in the regular extension program in Jefferson, Franklin, Marion, Richland, and Pulaski-Alexander counties. Further federal funds for rural development work will be requested in the new fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Kammlade points out that this program to help raise the income of an entire area will take time. "We don't change everything we would like to change on a farm all at once. Neither can all changes in a whole area be made as rapidly as some would like to see them made," he said.

Quarantines Recommended

Quarantining sick or newly purchased farm animals is becoming more common—and for good reason, notes Dr. L. E. Boley of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine.

Quarantines may make extra work, but the effort will be worth it if they prevent disease outbreaks on your farm.

Of course you don't knowingly buy diseased livestock. But many animal diseases are difficult to detect, even for a veterinarian, especially when the disease is in the incubation period or when the infected animal has almost recovered.

Most diseases are purchased with herd additions or replacements. When you buy new livestock, it's a good idea to quarantine them for at least 30 days on your farm to see whether they develop any diseases before you introduce them into your herd. Make tests for diseases like brucellosis and leptospirosis near the end of the quarantine.

When you find a sick animal on your farm, it is wise to isolate it until a veterinarian can diagnose the trouble. Isolation helps to prevent an infectious disease from spreading rapidly.

For the greatest precaution, you should completely separate sick or newly purchased animals from all other livestock. It is risky to isolate them in box stalls in the same barn where healthy animals are kept. Many disease germs and agents are spread by air currents, feeding equipment and even the shoes of caretakers.

Corn, Molasses Reign Silage Preservatives

Ground ear corn or molasses are still the best all-around preservatives for grass or legume silage with a high moisture content, claims K. A. Kendall, University of Illinois dairy scientist.

These preservatives are more efficient and just as economical as the newer chemical conditioners, such as sodium metabisulfite or calcium formate.

Kendall feels that the main advantage of a corn and cob conditioner is the feeding value it adds to the silage. As much as 85 percent of the feeding value of corn remains in the silage. The conditioner absorbs some of the excess moisture in the forage, helping to prevent loss of juice from the silo.

The grain provides carbohydrates that ferment and produce organic acids. This acidity improves the keeping quality of the silage. Ground ear corn can be added at the rate of 125 pounds per ton of grass-legume silage or 150-200 pounds per ton of grass silage.

Molasses improves palatability and adds feeding value. It is an excellent preservative when applied at the rate of 40-50 pounds per ton of grass silage or 80 pounds per ton of legume silage. The gross cost is moderate, and since only a part of the feeding value of the molasses is lost, the net cost is relatively small.

Kendall reports that sodium metabisulfite has preserved more carotene in some lots of silage, but in other respects its use may be questioned in trials at the University of Illinois, greater losses through seepage have been observed. It has failed to improve odor and palatability, and frequently produces silage that is less acid than that made with other conditioners.

It also presents a problem when filling an upright silo. Sulfur dioxide is formed that prevents anyone from entering the silo.

Sodium metabisulfite costs approximately one dollar a ton, but adds no feeding value to the silage. Calcium formate has been found to destroy carotene, says Kendall. This carotene loss has caused low American Indians do not have red or even copper-colored skins. The Indian's skin is brown.

Vitamin-A levels in cows fed with formate-preserved silage.

Kendall says farmers who use ground ear corn or molasses should have well preserved silage and the added feeding value as a bonus.

BARNYARD BATTLES—One may have called the other a dirty pig. Or the other may have called the other a dirty dog. At any rate, a moment after this picture was snapped they were going at it apparently for dear life. But neither got hurt. To them, the rough stuff is just fun. The battle takes place daily on the farm of Ted Ricketts near Atchison, Kans. Out of a herd of 100 hogs, the boxer picks on the same porker day in and day out. When one gets the other down, he lets up—and they go at each other again.

Winter Decline In Top-Grade Cattle Likely

We should expect a near-normal winter decline in prices of choice and prime cattle, L. H. Simerl told cattle feeders attending the University of Illinois Cattle Feeders Day.

But for the next 12 months as a whole, major conditions favor a good market for beef cattle, Simerl pointed out. Beef production is leveling off. Hog production is declining. And consumer buying power is likely to be at or near an all-time high.

The cattle industry went through several months of trying times last year and the first half of this year. The chief cause of this trouble was that production of beef reached its cyclical peak in the same year that pork output was at high tide.

Now beef output is leveling off and hog production is declining. Prices of fat cattle began to climb sharply in July and have been well above last year since that time. Prices of steers at Chicago last week averaged $25.30—nearly $4.00 higher than a year ago.

Beef production is not likely to increase further in 1957 unless drought should force still greater selling of cattle, says Simerl.

Best time to cut corn for silage is usually when the lower leaves start to turn brown, even though the ears are not fully matured.

In southern Illinois, Carmi beat McLeansboro 26-20; Lawrenceville beat Bridgeport 12-0; Herrin defeated Marion 35-21; Mount Vernon beat North Egypt Conference champ Salem 19-12; Zeigler trounced Christopher 40-6, and Chester shut out Sparta 27-0.

Centralia wound up its South Seven season in first place by dumping West Frankfort 33-12. But the Orphans may have to share the crown with Benton, which still has two games to play and which, like Centralia, has only one tie marring its record.

Hillsboro cinched the Midstate crown by pounding Litchfield 46-14. Effingham took command of the eastern Illinois race by registering its ninth victory of the season in a 39-0 rout of Casey.

Undefeated Tuscola swept the Okaw Valley title in a 19-7 win over Arcola, while Villa Grove beat Newman 20-14.

In one of the highest scoring games of the season, Peoria Woodruff clobbered East Peoria 78-0.

Aurora East picked up all the marbles in the Big Eight conference by whipping Freeport 40-7 in its final game. Defending champion Elgin, which lost to Aurora East last week, came back to slam Rockford West 54-19.

Pekin, whose hopes for a share of the Big 12 crown depended on a Champaign defeat, beat Bloomington 33-13. In another Big 12 fray, Peoria Central clubbed Urbana 33-6.

Rock Island teams had a good night, Allenman trouncing Peoria Spalding 41-0 and Rock Island High wallowing St. Ambrose of Iowa 47-12.

In the southwest area, Collinsville whitewashed Madison 26-0, Granite City edged Wood River 14-12, and Vandalia of the Mid-state loop beat Highland 43-12.

Looking at Sports

BY BILL MELTON

Wonder how many friends and patients of Dr. John E. Doyle, Ridgway physician, know that 25 years ago he was one of the brightest stars in the Eastern athletic skies.

And, also that the athletic achievements of a quarter century ago are still bright in the memory of fans of that area.

Recently Dr. Doyle received a letter from the University of West Virginia athletic department stating he had been selected as the greatest all-around athlete in the university's history.

The Ridgway physician was named to the honor following an inquiry from Sports Illustrated, a nationally circulated sports publication.

Sports Illustrated will name a Silver All-American football team sometime this month and the team will be selected from nominees from various universities.

The letter from the U. of W. Va. stated that not only was John Doyle an outstanding football player but also the only man in the history of the school to captain three major athletic teams in one year.

Halfback Doyle captained the 1931 football team, Forward Doyle was captain of the 1931-32 basketball team, Catcher Doyle was captain of the baseball team in the spring of 1932. Doyle also ran the low hurdles, broad jumped and put the shot on the track team.

He earned three varsity letters in football, basketball, track and two varsity letters in baseball. Playing football under the well known Coach "Greasy" Neale, Doyle was a triple threat halfback, doing the team's punting and passing and averaging 6 to 8 TDs per season.

In the days of low scoring basketball he had an average in the neighborhood of 15 points per game and compiled a batting average his senior year of about .360. These figures might be off a little as it all happened 25 years ago and Dr. Doyle was answering rapid fire questions only a few days ago.

When asked about his All-American ratings, Dr. Doyle stated he was named to the third team and also was picked on the All Eastern team and named to captain the group.

Following college he took a flyer at professional baseball, playing one season with Dayton, Ohio, Brooklyn farm in the Middle Atlantic league. He also played some football with Richmond.

But Dr. Doyle's ambition was not to be a professional athlete, he wanted to earn his medical degree and only played the pro games to fill in the time and add a little to the bank account.

Following graduation from the University of West Virginia Dr. Doyle attended the Medical College of Virginia and Chicago Medical school.

The U. of W. Va. was not affiliated with any conference in the early '30s, but played an independent schedule. During Doyle's time at the school, games were played with Penn State, Pitt, Fordham, Georgetown, Army, Missouri, Washington and Lee, Oklahoma A & M and Oregon State among many others. A rugged schedule.

And among the players that attended West Virginia and had to be considered before settling on Doyle as the school's finest is Joe Stydahr, a name familiar to every grid fan.

Doyle is a native of Pennsboro, W. Va., where he was an all-state high school griddier.

Dr. Doyle, married and the father of three children, came to Ridgway in 1946.

Hunting Season For Pheasants Opens Sunday

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The pheasant hunting season opens in Illinois at noon Sunday with a bag limit of two cock pheasants per day and a possession limit of four, except on opening day.

Conservation Director Glen D. Palmer said the 20-day season will open with the state pheasant crop slightly larger than last year. Hunters, he said, would find good shooting in the pheasant range which covers about a third of the state from Lake County south and west.

Palmer also announced 15 pits on the public hunting area at Horseshoe Lake will be opened for goose hunting Saturday morning. Public drawings for the hunting rights were scheduled at 6 p. m. today at the area permit station.

The director said state and federal surveys indicated there were about 47,000 geese in the Horseshoe Lake refuge, plus about 27,000 on the Union County and 39,000 on the Crab Orchard Lake refuges, which are not yet open to hunters.

Pheasant shooting hours will be from sunrise to sunset after Sunday except on opening day when they are from noon to sunset. Palmer said permit holders may shoot on the seven state public hunting areas from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. each day after the opening day.

Palmer cautioned hunters to avoid shooting quail and rabbits until the legal hunting seasons for the game begins. The quail season is Nov. 17 through Dec. 17, and the rabbit season Nov. 24 through Jan. 20.

Berrios Wins 10-Round Decision From Flash Elorde

NEW YORK (UP)—Featherweight contender Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico, victor in a bloody return bout with Filipino Flash Elorde, was offered a higher ranking opponent today.

The stocky terrier, who carved two gashes (18 stitches) in Elorde's left brow enroute to a unanimous 10-round decision at Madison Square Garden Friday night, was offered a return 12-round fight with second-ranking Cherif Hamia of France in early January.

Hamia outpointed Berrios at the Garden, July 27, for Miguel's only defeat in nine starts this year.

Miguel, the 2-1 favorite, weighed 128 pounds for Friday night's TV-radio bout; Elorde weighed 129 1-2.

Eldorado Eagles Romp to Easy 59-6 Victory; Lester Feuquay Scores 31

Entire Team Shares in Plan to Shake Runner Loose

Eldorado romped to its eighth victory of the season at Metropolis Friday night, scoring an easy 59-6 decision in a game that was featured by team spirit and a "brotherly" act.

After the first few minutes had been played it was apparent that Eldorado was in for an easy time so the entire team set in action a plan to shake Lester Feuquay, junior halfback and candidate for Southern Illinois scoring honors, loose for as many TDs as possible. Every player entered wholeheartedly into the plan. Lester scored five touchdowns for a total of 31 points including a point after touchdown.

And late in the game Lester's brother, Marty, a senior and the team captain, came up with the "play of the night."

Marty was running in the clear for a TD, but when he got to the one-yard line he stopped and dropped to one knee, stopping play.

Every Player in Action
On the next play from scrimmage Lester was given the ball and went over for his fifth TD and 31st point of the evening.

Eldorado's coach Al Adams gave every player suited up a chance to play and watched several of the sophomores perform in varsity play for the first time.

On the third play from scrimmage the Eagles scored, with Marty Feuquay going 47 yards for a TD. Lester ran for the PAT.

Midway in the first quarter Lester Feuquay recovered a Metropolis fumble on the Eldorado 15 yard line. After an eight yard gain Lester broke loose and raced 77 yards to score. Marty ran for the PAT.

Before the quarter ended Eldorado scored again on a Justice-to-Kingery pass and Justice passed to Wood for the PAT.

In the second period Lester ran 42 yards for a TD and the Eagles led 27-0.

Metropolis scored its only TD midway in the frame on a Bob Scheeman to Fred Stratemeyer pass play covering 64 yards.

Near the end of the quarter L. Feuquay scored again on a 20 yard gallop.

The Eldorado downfield blocking was terrific throughout the game, bowling over would be tacklers right and left to allow the Eagle backs to make the long, thrilling scoring runs.

Eldorado scored only one TD in the third quarter. A 79-yard L. Feuquay run accounted for the TD and a Justice-to-Kingery pass scored the PAT.

Three more Eldorado TDs were scored in the final frame.

Early in the fourth quarter the Eldorado line swarmed through to rush a Metropolis passing effort, the ball being knocked from the passer's hands. Ronnie Rains, sophomore guard, picked up the loose ball and went 20 yards to score. Justice ran for the PAT.

A Metropolis pass was intercepted by Mike McMahon on the Eldorado 30 and he later latered to M. Feuquay. Then came the "brotherly" act. Marty raced 69 yards to the one and stopped. L. Feuquay then scored on a one-yard line buck.

Races 57 Yards for Final TD
Late in the game Jack Mitchell, senior guard, was pulled into a halfback spot and raced 57 yards for the last TD of the game.

Eldorado end Jim Woods was injured late in the first half, but it was not serious, however Coach Adams kept him out of the remainder of the game.

The Eagles played without the services of Co-Capt. Web Mosby, a guard, who has a fractured collar bone. Metropolis also played without a couple of regulars, Bill Christian and Bob Taylor, both backfield men.

Eldorado starters were Woods and Kingery ends, Overton and Goodley tackles, Monroe and Mitchell guards, Pool center, Justice quarterback, Marty and Lester Feuquay halfbacks and Reasons fullback. Seeing considerable action were McMahon, Hauser, Phelps, Corbin, Gwaltney, Willis, Jerry and Ronnie Rains and Baugher, with everyone playing at least a little sometime during the game.

Starting for Metropolis: Oliver and Stratemeyer ends, Pullen and Korte tackles, Dan Rodgers and Hendrix guards, Parr center, Wittman quarterback, Jim Rodgers and Scheeman halfbacks and Parker fullback.
